

BEILSTEIN INSTITUT

Application for Travel Expenses

The Beilstein-Institut will cover reasonable expenses for invited guests as approved in advance and upon request after the event. The rules for the reimbursement of expenses are based on direct travel to and from the event and are set out in the Guidelines.

The Beilstein-Institut covers the costs for the most cost-effective form of travel: 2nd class trains, economy flights, public transport, taxi and private car.

Please note: We can only reimburse travel costs that are directly connected with the event. If you extend your travel, either before or after the event, the reimbursement will be reduced proportionally. If your additional days of travel extend beyond the maximum (e.g., 3 additional days for a 3 day symposium), reimbursement will not be possible. In addition, if you do not travel directly, the reimbursement will be reduced accordingly. See the Guidelines regarding intercontinental travel and for further details.

If you change your arrival or departure dates from those on your application form, and do not inform us at least two weeks in advance of the symposium, any no-show charges that the hotel passes on will be deducted from your reimbursement.
